

BLUE Room

Spode®

Originating from the 18th century, Spode's Blue Room collection is made up from a medley of distinctive motifs and patterns, ranging from floral and faunal designs to famous places and scenery. The blue and white designs made famous by Josiah Spode I, continue to be produced today, capturing the same authentic Spode blue that was born from the original process of blue underglaze printing on earthenware from hand engraved copper plates. The intricate borders, taken from engravings in the Spode archive, give a rich texture and unique quality to each range, which add to the intrinsic beauty and appeal that make Blue Room such a treasured collection. Reintroduced for Summer 2010 is six of each of the most popular archive dresser plate and mug designs along with six new Chintz designs that take Spode's historical designs as inspiration and add a modern twist.
